

פְּרִי הָעֵץ Blessing over Fruit

The fruits receive the blessing of "Ha-etz". In Jew law, a fruit is defined as something that grows from a durable tree that does not renew its stem and does not grow too close to the ground. Therefore, apples, grapes, nuts (except peanuts) and figs are fruits, but strawberries, watermelons and bananas are not.

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יְיָ אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, בוֹרֵא פְּרִי הָעֵץ.

Barukh ata Adonai Eloheinu melekha ha'olam borei
p'ri ha'eitz.
